WE NOMINATE

Millard Meiss, one of the brilliant American art historians of the century, who for the second time in two decades is playing a major role in the salvage and restoration of Italian art treasures. The 62-year old Meiss, a member of the Institute for Advanced Study since 1958, is now chairing the advisory committee for CRIA, The Committee to Rescue Italian Art, which was brought into being shortly after the city of Florence had been ravaged by floods and literally millions of books and manuscripts and hundreds of paintings had been damaged by a ruthless combination of water, mud and seeping fuel oil from furnaces and tanks.

Late this month Meiss and his wife, the former Margaret Louchheim, co-chairman of the Princeton Community Committee supporting CRIA, will be returning to Florence where until June Meiss will serve as Acting Director of the Harvard University Center for Italian Renaissance Studies in the late Bernard Berenson's villa I Tatti. There, in the city the Meisses know and love so well, he will be on the spot to continue a general oversight of one of the largest and most complicated salvage operations ever undertaken, a project that may well take more than $30 million and require at least 20 years.

From 1946 to 1951 the Ohio-born Meiss, a member of Princeton University's class of 1926, was chief executive officer of the American Committee for the Restoration of Italian Monuments, a private organization brought into being late in World War II and the model for the newly created CRIA. Like its predecessor, CRIA is unencumbered by "red tape" and, dominated by professional historians, art specialists and museum personnel, is able to meet with full understanding the needs of Florence's damaged museums, libraries, churches and galleries.

As CRIA continues to raise funds throughout the country and arranges to have experts ready for duty in Florence, it is the responsibility of Meiss and his associates on the Advisory Committee to allocate and determine priorities for these financial and human resources. It estimated that a minimum of $2.5 million will be required for immediate emergency conservation measures. Already the committee has granted $80,000 to restore frescoes in Florentine churches, $10,000 for emergency measures in the National Library, and $10,000 for one of the most seriously affected institutions, the Archaeological Museum.

Over the years, ever since he received the Wana-maker English Language Prize as a Princeton junior, Meiss has been awarded high honors for the range and depth of his scholarship. Widely known as an editor and author, he has been decorated by the Italian government, has received the Haskins Medal of the Medieval Academy and has been elected to membership of prestigious professional societies both in this country and overseas. At the time he was appointed to the Institute, Meiss, a member of the Columbia University Faculty for some 20 years, was serving as Professor of Fine Arts at Harvard as well as curator of paintings in the celebrated Fogg Museum.

For accepting a challenging assignment which stirs the gratitude of all concerned with the preservation of world treasures; for combining with his professional skills and training the splendid instincts of the humanitarian; for strengthening this community's and the nation's bonds with a stricken city and people; he is our nominee as

COMPROMISE REACHED ON Teachers' Salaries. The public meeting held Tuesday night in the auditorium of the high school to talk about teachers' salaries was an emotion-charged affair.

There was laughter that was sometimes good-natured but frequently rueful and edged with cynicism. There were high tempers, but there were also, quite obviously, two sets of idealists sharing the same goal of educational excellence but momentarily at odds about how to get there.

Almost all of the large audience consisted of teachers. They knew already that over the weekend, their representatives and members of the Princeton Regional Board's salary committee, had narrowed down their area of disagreement and finally reached a salary compromise.

The teachers as a whole voted, reluctantly, to accept the compromise. The board, on the other hand, managed to keep within the percentage increase — 1 1/2% — originally proposed. The new agreement adds $250,000 to the $2.5 million salary bill for the $5.1 million school budget which will be heard, in its turn, on January 24.

The increases were made in the middle salary ranges: about five changes in the middle of the B.A. scale, and three in middle of the M.A. scale.

A state law, passed last February, lets a school board adopt a binding salary scale without submitting it to the public for vote. Tuesday night's unanimous adoption of the scale by the Board is therefore "not" so far next year's salaries are concerned.

Yes, But . . . At the public hearing, Fred Zenone, president of the Princeton Regional Teachers' Association, said his group would accept the new proposals even though they meant that Princeton teachers were still underpaid. The teachers had provided leadership in quality education, Mr. Zenone said, and he asked whether the school board's low position on the economic scale reflected the way Princeton really felt toward its teachers.

David Brodsky, salary chairman for the board, outlined the chronology of salary discussions with the teachers starting last February. He cited

HONORED: The Rev. Edward C. Henry, pastor of St. Paul's Church since 1960, has been elevated by Pope Paul VI to the rank of papal chamberlain with the title of very reverend monsignor. Investiture ceremony will be held on January 29 at 3:30 p.m. in St. Mary's Cathedral, Trenton, with Bishop George W. Abt officiating. He will be a parish reception at St. Paul's that evening. (Staff Photo)

the board's 95 percentile policy, that is, paying salaries in the upper 5% of New Jersey communities on a cost-per-pupil basis. He admitted that the scale had dropped in 1966-67 and said the present 10% increase was to bring it back up again.

He told the audience that the board measured its salary scale against other New Jersey school systems, other towns throughout the country with a similar economic structure, the starting salaries of other professions and increases in the cost of living.

He pointed out that teachers' raises occur in two directions year by year: as the teacher climbs the experience ladder, and periodically as the board adopts a new salary guide. For example, a teacher moving into the tenth year of experience would receive a $300 raise, plus $200 more for the new scale, for a total of $500.

One-third of the teachers are in the top bracket of the new guide, he said. Of these, 20 are at the very top, with 12 years' experience and advanced degree credits. They will receive $12,000 under the new scale.

Cites Benefits, Mr. Brodsky then referred to the "fringe benefits" of the system, such as sabbaticals, new schools, facilities and so on, and a number of cynical laughter moved in the audience.

Mrs. Kathleen Edwards, 240 John, asked about administrators' salaries. Dr. Harvey Rothberg, board president, told her these would probably be increased, but that no decision had been made.

Herbert Bailey of the Board warned that the current 10% increase might not be duplicated each year, and Mrs. Siem Moss, 433 Walnut Lane, a teacher, said with a smile, "But it SHOULD be duplicated each year."

John Houtenville, teacher at the high school, added, "This 10% was necessary to bring us up to where we should have been!"

Charles Jaffin, who served on Mr. Brodsky's committee, explained that the board had made no attempt to negotiate for more than a one-year guide, and he said he regarded this guide as a "stair step" toward the ultimate accommodation of the teachers' goal.

Guides in the past have been for three-year periods. Dr. Rothberg said, at the end of the meeting, that he hoped for a two-year guide next year.

Peter Cook, new to the high school this year, said that after four years at a private school, he was impressed with the caliber of the teachers in Princeton, "but I think the board's proposal reflects a low estimate of the value of teachers in Princeton. A teacher makes a commitment, both to his profession and the community he decides to settle in."

"This salary scale is something we accept reluctantly—it's only a bow, and a token of good faith," said Mrs. Edw. Lots of the John Witherspoon guidance department. "We have an excellent program of instruction here and we must attract the best teachers," said Frank Soda, of the high school's language department.

How "Well-Paid?" The floor shifted from the teachers briefly as L. E. Purvis, 207 Russell Road, R.E.C. Turner Township School Board member, said:

"It's hard to imagine a community with a heavier and more constant record of support to education than Princeton, or a more teacher-oriented school board. Many teachers in other towns would like to be in their hands! I see no need for the cynicism I heard when Mr. Brodsky mentioned fringe benefits. We can certainly save budget money on those things if teachers feel so cynically about them!"

Mr. Purvis challenged Mr. Zenone to produce "facts." He asked, "How well-paid is 'well-paid' just what do the teachers want?"

ments placed by teachers in Princeton papers, and suggested this was not the way to communicate with board members. The ads asked residents to write the board, but Dr. Rothberg says no letters have been received. There are, however, several in TOWN TOPICS' Mailbox, page 21.)

"I saw a real Utopia in the future, when this new system was in its planning stages," said Mrs. Catherine Scheelich, 144 Hickory Court, teacher in the high school. "I think we have a lot of idealists, not cynics. Princeton should be in the vanguard of great and lofty thinking in modern education."

She leaned forward toward the store where board members sat, and asked, "How do board members feel?"

"We are idealists, too—and three ones," replied Mrs. Susan Fremont, of the Board. "We have the highest ideal for the Princeton educational system. We look to our teachers for programmatic ideas. There is dialogue between teachers and board, and teachers and staff, and from it will grow a better and better system. The board must meet the taxpayers in two weeks; we must see the WHOLE, including the teachers' environment."

Raise By Degrees? "How can you make the community more aware?" asked Mrs. Frank V. Macke, 8 Evelyn Place. "When the Borough hired a business manager at $12,000, I thought a lot of teachers got that much! It was always so cut-throat about salaries, and now this!"

One speaker suggested the board should use its salary norm, not other school systems, but the salaries paid at top universities.

"Don't reward teachers too much for things they aren't teaching. Like advanced degrees," warned Donald Biddle, 63 Deer Path. Mr. Biddle is a former Township Board member, and is the husband of a teacher. "Work out some benefits just outside credit as a way to earn salary increases."

Mr. Biddle also said that administrators' salaries may have risen as much as 20% in Princeton, and he told the Board it should have "a competitive salary scale geared to the marketplace."

Dr. Rothberg, in reply, asked teachers "to work with us in developing ways of rewarding excellence," and added that the board was keenly interested in advancing progress.

sionalism among teachers. He told the audience he was encouraged by the meeting, and believed that a spirit of harmony and mutual confidence would help everyone, mostly the children.

However, the meeting didn't end on quite such a harmonious chord. After formal adoption of the salary scale at about 10 p.m., Dr. Rothberg began to pound the adjoining gavel when David Hapgood, 22 Cedar Lane, rose and said, "I'm a taxpayer and I want to speak."

Dr. Rothberg, who had warned the last two speakers that they would be the last, told Mr. Hapgood he was adjourning the meeting because all sides had spoken and there seemed nothing new to say.

Later, Mr. Hapgood, whose wife is a teacher in the system, told reporters he regarded Mr. Brodsky's presentation as a "sell" and not the proper way to present the salary question.

"We've been led to believe this is a 10% increase," he said, "but half of this is in the existing salary guide, so it's really only 5%." He also challenged the $36-ile figure as illusory, and he suggested that the board ought to obtain 1969 salary survey figures from other school boards and promise the teachers more money based on these new comparisons.

"All of us have learned from this," Mrs. Fremont had observed earlier, "and the learning isn't over yet."

ZONING CHANGE PASSED

By Borough Council. Borough Council Tuesday night unanimously approved a request for a zoning variance by Simon Fried, 34 Ilwaco Circle, which will permit Mr. Fried to retain the house on the old F. A. Bannan property adjacent to the lot of the old Witherspoon School as a single family dwelling.

Mr. Fried had obtained permission to combine the two lots and to combine the nursing home on the site. The original approval stated that all structures on the Bannan property were to be razed. Mr. Fried later decided to use the house as a residence for the supervisor of the nursing home.

Teen Center Plans. Mayor Patterson announced that the proposal to use the former Miss Fine's School gym as a teen center will be discussed at the February meeting by Parents for Youth. The final decision on what to do with the gym will hopefully be made at the March Council meeting.

Parents for Youth wants a place big enough to hold hundreds, but flexible enough to make 20 feel comfortable. Soft drinks, cigarettes, snacks, ping-pong, dancing and permanent "preference" passes would be part of the package. There would be membership fees.

The Borough would lease this gym to a non-profit Parents for Youth corporation which would pay for renovating the gym at an estimated cost of $60,000.

Yearly operating budget would be $12,000 ($8,000 for rent).

staff, $4,000 for utilities and supplies. Money would be raised by a drive in all communities whose young residents would use the center.

$5,000 in Gifts. Students have already raised $1,800 through car-washes, balloon sales and other means. They plan a fashion show and hope it will raise $2,000. In addition, P. for Y. has donations amounting to $1,200. An architect and builder have offered to help, and are willing to use student labor where possible. Janitorial services would probably be performed by the teen-age students.

A rental committee would arrange rates and schedules. P. for Y. thinks it would have about 100 requests each year for the gym and suggests a rental fee of $2 per use.

Non-profit organizations would be given a rental rate, and P. for Y. thinks about half its tenants' would be expected to pay. It estimates that one-third of the operating costs might come from rentals.

Indoor Tennis, Anyone? If the gym were laid out for indoor tennis, P. for Y. thinks it could raise $4,500 a year by charging the same rate as a nearby indoor court. Student dances have been averaging a profit of about $1,000 each. At one a month, the group thinks it could raise $4,000.

In regard to overlapping, P. for Y. points out that the present "Y" has no swimming programs and classes only for drop-in lounging. The general feeling "Y" has is "room for all." P. for Y. thinks the center might eventually be included in the community recreation program.

If the project fails, P. for Y. says "the building will revert to the Borough with no obligation to it. The citizens of the Borough then could build a fully operating building at so cost to the taxpayers."

The youth committee is also considering an alternative use of the building which the Borough engineering department will vacate when the new Borough Hall is completed. Mayor Patterson doubted that the gym could be put into use as a teen center any sooner than the municipal building. Councilman William H. Walker II strenuously objected to

Thompson Splits Votes on Powell Case

Rep. Frank Thompson, who represents Princeton and the Fourth Congressional District, was one of the liberal Democrats who voted to eliminate Arthur H. Powell as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee. Mr. Thompson is a member of the Committee but fourth down on the seniority line leading to the chairmanship.

The Congressman worked during the weekend with Rep. Norris K. Udall, Democrat of Arizona, and others, in hammering out the parliamentary procedure that removed Mr. Powell from the chairmanship.

Mr. Thompson told newsmen he reached his decision during a caucus of the Democratic Study Group, the liberal organization he has served as chairman for the past two years.

He voted against denying Mr. Powell his Congressional seat, however, because he believes the Harlem Congressman could win any special election, anyhow. With Congressman Udall, Mr. Thompson said he believed that by unseating Mr. Powell from his chairmanship, but not from the House itself, "we are doing the most friendly thing."

A rental committee would the popular custom of referring to the structure as the "Engineering Building" notwithstanding that the building was originally built during the '30's with PWA funds for community purposes. He suggested "Community Building" as a more appropriate appellation.

Bowing to Mr. Walker's suggestion, Mayor Patterson pointed out that several of the other present occupants of the Community Building, such as the United Fund and the Girl Scouts, have expressed desire to stay in the building after the Engineering Department and Civil Defense have left.

The Mayor suggested that whichever organizations used the building they should "mingle together" to provide for maximum use of the building at all times.

Zoning Board Alternates Council also approved for further consideration and final passage at its next meeting by President Alfred E. Sorenson to amend the zoning ordinance to provide for two alternates to the zoning board who would step in when permanent members were unable to appear or were forced to withdraw because of conflict of interest.

Mr. Sorenson also proposed that land set aside for the Baptist Church on John Street be turned over to the church. The church plans to use the land for a new entrance. The proposal will receive further study and possible final passage at the next meeting.

Then Mr. Vansant related they ordered him to open the safe. He was also told to open a lower section of the safe, he continued, but he told the bandits that a second key was needed. This seemed to satisfy them, he said.

The thieves also emptied the contents of 11 cash registers into a bag, took $30 in quarters and an envelope containing money-order blanks.

Sgt. Petrone said the employees described the two as white, about 5-9 and 30 years old. The one carrying the shotgun wore a tan raincoat. One of the cashiers said he did most of the talking and was "cool, calm and collected."

The second man was described as appearing nervous. He did not say anything. Witnesses said he was carrying what appeared to be a top pistol.

Mr. Vansant said the store had been closed at 4, a half-hour before the appearance of the robbers, but the door had been left open for employees who were still leaving.

Although police closed off the area as soon as they were notified, the two men managed to escape. In his juvenile position, Sgt. Petrone is being aided by Ptl. Henry Kresse and Ptl. Frank Cox.

SEVEN ARRESTED

In Narcotics Raid, Preliminary Hearings Have Been Waived

For the two Princeton youths and five Princeton University undergraduates arrested here Thursday on narcotics charges. The case will be presented to the Mercer County grand jury.

The surprise arrests were made in two University dormitories and three private residences between 4:35 and 9:40 p.m. on Thursday by state police led by Captain Gerald C. Doller, director of the criminal investigation division, following several months of undercover surveillance.

The raids netted hashish, marijuana, "pop pills" (good balls) and several batches of a clear liquid which state police said is "something new" in their experience. They reported that the undergraduates had developed a system of combining hashish and marijuana with an unidentified chemical which they then blended with tobacco, dried and rolled into cigarettes with a World War II "roll-over" machine. "You wouldn't be able to detect the drugs unless you analyze the mixture," Captain Doller said.

Value of the drugs seized has not been computed by police, although the quantity was said to be fairly large. According to Captain Doller, hashish

Charged with the sale of narcotics in the vicinity of Princeton High School, he was taken to a juvenile detention center and released on Monday afternoon pending trial in a juvenile court.

News Of The THEATRES

GETTING TO KNOW YOU
Town and Company. It is not true that actors are always lonely. It is true that actors live with bread like you, fess want, taste grief, need friends. This is why McCarter Theatre has revived The McCarter Guild. McCarter hopes for a closer and warmer alliance between actors in the company, members of the University family and townspeople who like the theatre and would welcome the chance to meet actors, directors and technical personnel.

"We want the Guild to be a social organization linking all these people," explains Margaret McAneny—"Mrs. Mac"—who is Guild chairman.

"The company and its actors and directors want to be part of the town. They want a chance to meet the people who live here on an easy, informal basis."

Come to Dinner. Anybody can join the Guild and so far, 49 have done so. Guild members will gather this Thursday evening to welcome the spring repertory company at a buffet supper, members contributing cassettes, salads and the like.

The occasion will also serve as opening night for McCarter's re-decorated lounge, a nice and intimate salon where Guild members and actors will rub elbows because in a room that size, there's no alternative.

"We think a small area is the best kind of social gathering place," says Mrs. John Benoit, young University wife who is vice-chairman of the Guild.

"We had this wonderful wine-tasting last fall, after the opening of 'One in a Lifetime' and it was very crowded and there was a very pleasant and friendly mixing of cast and townspeople. Maybe we'll have another one sometime."

Come to Rehearsal. "Lively, eager people like young Mrs. Benoit are just the ones for the Guild," says Mrs. Mac. "It's the participation of people we want, not just a check in the mail."

By the way, test all the talk of cassettes and salads sound definitive. McCarter welcomes men into the Guild as well as women. They can always help at wine-tastings.

Besides buffets and such, all Guild members are invited to at least one rehearsal each season. Usually, it's a "tech" or "rough dress," well past the "blocking" stage.

And of course, next Wednesday's symposium on company, starring Rosemary Harris and Ellis Rabb of the APA company, will draw many Guild members to McCarter (Registration figures so far, show an audience of 181.)

Come to My House. A personal element underlies the Guild's plans. Mrs. Benoit and Mrs. McAneny hope that townspeople will join the Guild to become more involved with McCarter, and will invite members of the company into their homes for a home-cooked meal (well—actors DO get hungry) and the kind of non-theatre talk that can broaden an actor's perception and his knowledge of people.

And of course, a man who has shared food, drink, and deep thoughts with an actor is less likely to be critical of him when the curtain goes up.

Memberships in the McCarter Guild start at $5 for a "Member" and go on up to $15 for a Participating Member and $25 for a Patron.

ENTER, SIR JOHN
With Miss Worth, Shakespeare, Sir John Gielgud and Irene Worth will star at McCarter Theatre this Sunday afternoon, in "Men and Women of Shakespeare," Sir John's latest adaptation from the plays.

In the program, which will begin at 3, there will be selections from "Romeo and Juliet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Catharine and Petruchio," "Henry V.," "Richard III," "Anthony and Cleopatra."

Sir John has been in Princeton before: twice with his "Ages of Man," also taken from Shakespeare, and two

WE OPEN ON FRIDAY: Ed Yanowitz and Connie Margolis will play leading roles in "Absence of a Cello," the winter production of Princeton Community Players, scheduled to open in Murray Theatre this Friday.
News Of The Theatres
It is a program of readings honoring the memory of T. S. Eliot and Dame Edith Sitwell.
"CELO" MISSING?
Play Opens Friday, "Absence of a Cello," the winter production of Princeton Community Players, will open this Friday at 8:30 in Murray Theatre, with subsequent performances Saturday and the next two weekends, closing January 28.
Lucia Zissman is directing the Ira Wallach comedy that opens successfully in New York in 1964. It describes the efforts of an academic family to conform to the Organization for Human Development.
Ed Yanowitz portrays Andrew Pilgrim, an academic scientist who applies for a position in a large corporation. Emily Stuart plays his scholarly wife who makes a brave try at being a garden-club member. Connie Margolis, William Buckbee, Lulu Cadley, Jim Margolis and Jane Cawley complete the cast.
BOLSHOI, ON FILM
In "Cinderella," a full-length, full-color film of the Bolshoi Ballet's "Cinderella" will be shown on Sunday, January 22, at 3 at McCarter Theatre, in cooperation with the Princeton Ballet Society. Tickets are reserved, and are on sale now at the McCarter box-office.
The ballet, to Prokofiev's music, stars Irina Struchkova, of whom Clive Barnes, dance critic for the "New York Times," said, "She is the perfect Cinderella: shy, tender and blossoming into the radiant radiance of every fairy-tale girl at her first fairy-tale ball."
Keston, Chaplin's "The Navigator" was Buster Keaton's own favorite of all the films he made, and Princeton audiences can pass judgment on his judgment this Friday at 8 when McCarter presents its annual "Nirth and Merrivue" film festival.
In addition to the Keston, McCarter will show Laurel and Hardy in "Salor, Beware!" Chaplin in "The Adventurer," chapter three of the original "Flash Gordon" with Buster Crabbe and cartoons featuring the Pink Panther, Ernest Vin-

IT'S NEW To Us

WHERE'S MY BIKINI?
South. It wouldn't be hard to lose one of those bikinis at the English Shop — and it's gone. We found bikinis on the bathing suit rack, packed as close as a beach to the Fourth of July with some bathing suits for the non-bikini customers. Dip right in.
Actually, purists in the dress aren't really bikinis at all; they are merely — and more is the word — brief two-piece bathing suits. Cute and demure as a polka dot.

One in bright sea-green with white dots and the most ridiculous white eyelet ruffle.
Comes in pink, too.

Another is sunny yellow gingham with white eyelet gaisies sewn here and there, especially on the waistband of the briefs and the ruffle of the bra. An orange one has white daisies that are real black-eye susans; yep, a black eye is in the middle of each.

Meantime, modish is off swimming in Cole's white boy-legger with a blue pattern rather like Blue Onion. Comes in olive, too. Bright pastel flowers against an unusual dark grey make another one-piece. This suit has a wide sash and thick-up shoulders.

On land, the bikini weaver will slip into one of Gay Gibson's jumbo charmers, perhaps the delicious little skimmer in size five made of palest blue with a lime collar and very narrow lime froggoting down
the slim princess seams.
Comes in white with navy, too.
The very green-up Gay Gibson is deep navy with a turnover collar of pale blue cobrodered with white. The narrow potent belt is so low it looks like a garter.

Ensembles in English Shop's Gay Gibson line start with a brilliant lime rayon nub coat, full length with deep knife pleats, flat collar, and black-eyed buttons down the front.
Under, is white dress with vertical black pin-striped and that narrow black potent belt.
A swinging army coat is bordered all the way around with the same luscious orange-red that marks the end of the long white waist of the dress and the beginning of the navy skirt.

Away from the Juniors, we find English Shop ringing the Liberty bell again. This year, it's two-piece prints like the Liberty lines with A-skirt and sleeveless top with wide, cool neckline. Blues, pinks and a more modern print than the traditional Liberty, which appears again this year in a fine voile classic.

Voile has been used for a Swiss crinkle voile (non-Liberty) with cool, round neckline, belt and no sleeves.

Moyzashel stams into the season with a wild horizontal print of turquoise, violet, lime and white (also oranges and pinks) cut simply with an open-throated collar, no sleeves and shirts design.

A brilliant pink floral has a narrow lime green belt just like the band around the neck and the green leaves peeking through the flowers. A casual lime classic is wild raspberry, belted in, with brief sleeves and a small, pointed collar.

Air Fares Down

If you're thinking about a trip to Europe this summer, you already know about the sharp downward reduction in air fares.
American Express in Princeton has asked us to tell you that they can guarantee — that's right, guarantee — passage by air for you this summer under the new fares, based on groups of 15 passengers.
Details are complex, and you'll want to talk them over in person. American Express offices are at 10 Nassau, 921-8600. The office is closed all day Saturday.

The first, four feet square,
is an old, old wine purple velvet, as haremian a thing as you'll ever see in Princeton.
In the center is an escutcheon made of leaf and scroll designs cut from old church vestments.

The next is old, too, but not quite so much so. It's Italian and heavy, suspended by cloth loops from a sturdy oak pole. It's a tapestry, machine-woven but elegant, in dark teal greens, dark tomato reds and burnished gold. Birds

WELCOME BACK

Actors Return. Familiar faces will be on stage this spring when the McCarter rep-story season gets under way. Actors have already assembled at McCarter to begin rehearsals on the first two plays — "Waiting for Godot," and "Hamel," the latter for high-school audiences only.

Actors returning this spring are George Hearn, who was last fall's Hamlet; Suma Iabel, who played Cassandra; Peter Bailey-Britton who was the irate writer in "Once In A Lifetime"; Eve Johnson, who was the wife and mother in "A View From the Bridge"; Marc Alaimo who played Radolph in "A View From the Bridge" and Lou Gallier, who played Moric in the same play.

Mr. Hearn has been assigned the role of Callian in this season's "The Tempest" and Pozzo in "Waiting for Godot." Miss Iabel (she is Mrs. Hearn) will play in "The Braggart Warrior" and "The Servant of

Two Masters." Mr. Bailey-Britton will portray Prospero, and also Plecterianus in "The Braggart Warrior." Miss Johnson will be the goddess Juno in "The Tempest" and a comic servant in "The Servant of Two Masters."

Marc Alaimo will move from Arthur Miller tobeck, portraying Lucky in "Waiting for Godot." Lou Gallier will be Sebastian in "The Tempest" and Estragon in "Godot."

ANYTHING GOES . . .

So Cole Porter Says. Famous and famous songs will herald the decline and fall of the entire world as seen through the eyes of Cole Porter on Saturday, January 21, at 8:30 in the evening.

The revue with the impossible name, stars four performers and the talents of Cole Porter. The witty lyricist and composer wrote his first song at the age of ten and is the author of Yale's most famous cheer. He also attended Harvard Law School, but his Princeton connections are unrecorded.

Porter wrote prolifically during the 20s, but he is most identified with the 1930's when he wrote such musical comedy hits as "Anything Goes," "Red, Hot and Blue," "Duharry Was a Lady" and "Panama Hattie."

The 1940's saw "Mexican Hayride," "Kiss Me Kate," "Can-Can," "Silk Stockings" and "Out of this World." His film scores include "Born to Dance," "Les Girls" and "High Society."

BALLET FILM BOOKED

By Lincoln Theatre. The Royal Ballet's acclaimed production, "Romeo and Juliet," set to music of Prokofiev and starring Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, will be presented in the film version next Wednesday and Thursday, January 18 and 19, at the Lincoln Theatre. Trenton, show times are 2, 4:30 and 8 p.m. on both days.

Under the direction of Paul Czanner, the entire concept of the film is to capture in breathtaking detail the tragic, poetic story and the technical proficiency of the Fonteyn-Nureyev combination. The film version is dazzling in color, made all the more interesting by the use of multiple cameras which permit fluidity in the story-ing while showing the ballet's portions to great advantage.

PRINCE

Arrivederci, Baby! (now playing) is a lightweight piece of "black" comedy which employs Tony Curtis as the wily man who gains wealth by disposing of his rich wives.

In flash-back sequences, we see Curtis's rather modest, callow face used to good advantage. Decked out in shorts and knee socks, he is quite a sight as a 16-year-old being adopted by an Aunt Miriam (played in a wild caricature style by Anna Way Quinley). As he takes us on a tour of his past, we learn of his impoverished youth and his lust for money.

His first victim is a beautiful, electrocuted by short circuiting his toy train transformer, a very sweet-sounding harp. The most laugh-getting female of all is Zsa Zsa Gabor, cast as a rich Hungarian who never stops talking. Then there are very British Pamela Fielding, Nancy Kwan as Baby, his ex-girl, and finally a shipy Italian, Rosanna Schifano, whose wits match his.

It is all very energetic and exuberant. A good deal of it is sophomoric comedy that has been laughed at many times before. It is rated by the National Catholic Office as a B film, objectionable in part.

PLAYHOUSE

The Endless Summer (now playing) Two young California surfers, Mike Hynson and Robert August, travel around the world trying the surfing mile journey chasing the sun and surf took them across the equator four times and into such areas as Senegal, Ghana, Nigeria, India, Australia, Tahiti and Hawaii.

It took two years to film this 90 minute documentary. There is good musical accompaniment and a clever variation to go along with the spectacular, exciting scenes, filmed in color.

The Playhouse will also feature a short film, "The Hand," from Czechoslovakia, voted best short of the East, to the international film festival there. Leo Dattfield of Princeton holds the independent film imports group that continues on Page 8

The Gospel According to St. Matthew (now playing) at the Tame of this unpretentious Italian film on the life of Christ first reached the United States early last year. It has been well received abroad, winning a number of honors. Nevertheless, no matter how high the expectations created, for many the actual achievement of Pier Paolo Pasolini's film is so remarkable that it seems to be altogether surprising.

What Pasolini decided to do was simple: the story of Christ only as recounted in the Gospel of St. Matthew, using only the words and incidents in that part of the Bible. The story is retold with fidelity to what we now know of the actual times and the people of the period. For this reason, the film has a believable quality that is haunting. The people, many played by unknowns, seem real. The locales seem authentic.

Bonique fringed, a young Spaniard, is Christ, the Son of Man, a mystery then and now. His portrayal may be compared favorably with the performances of the great actors of stage and screen who have played Jesus. The camerawork is uncomplicated and revealing, and the film has received a number of awards from the Venice Film Festival and the International Catholic Film Office.

It's New To Us
and leaves form the basic design.

Another, different as can be, is a Mexican hanging of natural women wool with spare red-black "Z" design. Next is a sixty-eight black and white alpaca for wall, floor or bed.

Pheasant and Deer, scanning the grey for snow and cold, recommends a Peruvian hat, a stocking one two feet long knit of heavy wool with straight helmet sides and a "fringe" which is really a two-inch edge of knit ribbing. Colors are earthen, but bright — they'll see you on Nassau Street when you wear this one. Men's designs are not quite so gay.

Across the world from Peru we have found a knit stocking made in Turkey. "For a tall man with a small foot," Pheasant and Deer explains, "has an intricate knit pattern which will remind you of Scandinavian sweaters, but these wistard and red combinations never saw any fjord, you can be sure of that."

From Ecuador, Pheasant and Deer has a new collection of runners to wear on a mild winter day. From Mexico, a group of women's sweaters, hand-knit from tweedy yarns and right down to deers head in length. Some of these sweaters, made of natural yarns, will remind you of sweaters from the Hebrides or Ireland. Prices are much less than you would expect, by the way.

Mediterranean: Tossing our capitan lightly over a bronzed shoulder, we began making plans this week for a Mediterranean cruise, courtesy of American Express and the Norwegian - American line. (What are the Norwegians doing in the Mediterranean? Thought the old Viking spirit was dead, didn't you?)

Anyhow, American Express has us sailing from New York on the luxury liner Sunland on April 11 for a 34-day cruise to 12 ports. We visit in Funchal, Madeira, after a pleasant eight-day crossing, then proceed to Tangier (thought we were kidding about that capitan, didn't you?)

Other ports of call are Athens, Naples, Barcelona, Villefranche for Nice and Monte Carlo, Malaga, Cadiz, Lisbon — and we didn't even name them all.

On board is a Norwegian folk-dancing group, a hall-room (with free dancing classes), a lounge, with free live music, an outdoor pool — well, it's a luxury ship, so we'll be before. See you at the dock!

Watch That Stop Sign!

The stop sign at the corner of Moore and Wiggins Street will be reversed, effective Monday. Motorists driving eastward on Wiggins-Hamilton will have a clear, through street. Those driving on Moore Street, to or from Nassau, have to stop when they reach Wiggins-Hamilton.

A school crossing guard is always at the intersection during morning and afternoon school traffic, and his presence is expected to help motorists make the transition.

The traffic light scheduled for Witherspoon and Wiggins has turned a temporary red; a delay in receiving the essential parts means that the light will not be installed until about February 1.

and Mrs. Richard J. Amberg of Stamford, Conn., to Robert C. Kuser, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kuser of 644 Rosedale Road and Spring Lake. January 7. David A. Hoffman, 20, of Baltimore, a sophomore, arrested in 235 1839 Hall, charged with possession of marijuana. He was found in Schlick's room at the time of the raid and police allegedly found marijuana in a travel bag in his possession; Decatur, Ga., a married junior, arrested at his home at 51 Morris Avenue, charged with two sales of hashish and possession of marijuana.

All of those arrested, except the juvenile and Purdom, were taken to Borough Hall for arraignment at about 11 p.m. At 2 a.m. on Friday, they were transferred to Mercer County Jail. All have been released on bail.

Purdom collapsed with shock at his arrest and was taken to McCoish Infirmary under police guard. He was later arraigned before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams and returned to the infirmary.

Bails Reduced. The original bails ranged from $7,500 for Bookler and Hoffman to $12,000 for Purdom. The amounts were reduced on Friday on the motion of George Pellietier of Princeton, the attorney representing Bookler, Hoffman, Reits and Skolnick. Amounts set are $1,500 each for Hoffman and Bookler, $2,000 each for Reits and Skolnick and $3,000 for Purdom. Solorowky was released Monday on $2,000 bail in the Borough and $1,600 in the Township.

University officials, who said they were not informed of the date police investigation until minutes before the raids took place, said through the Department of Public Information, "This is a matter of deep concern to the University, which is cooperating in every possible way with local, county and state authorities." Officials said they would take no disciplinary action against the students until their cases are disposed of in the courts.

The Price Is Right

According to Borough-Township Attorney Gordon D. Griffin, the sale of narcotics, depressant or stimulant drugs, including the hallucinogenics, to individuals under the age of 18 is a "high misdemeanor." Conviction carries with it a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $10,000 and a prison term at hard labor of not less than two years to life imprisonment.

On December 29, Governor Hughes signed into law Assembly Bill 547, revising the new Jersey Drug laws of 1948 to conform with existing Federal laws, and Assembly Bill 548, designed to prevent the misuse of depressant and stimulant drugs. The hallucinogenics are specifically included in the State law for the first time.

Walter Dowdell, University security director, accompanied the raid to 122 Joline. James M. Koppeler, his assistant, went with another raid unit to 1839 Hall.

According to Borough police, the court trials could be six or more months from now. Princeton narcotics cases of last spring and September are still pending trial.

MAID IS ATTACKED
Mugger Gets $130. A youth snuggled a woman near the intersection Chambers Street and Avalon Place Friday afternoon and escaped with $130 he snatched from her purse.

Martha Johnson, a live-in maid at 42 Lafayette Road, told police she had left the Princeton Bank and Trust Co. at 2:30 and noticed a young man following her when she reached the vicinity of Palmer Square and Hulth Street. When she reached Avalon Place, she said, he "put something over my mouth" and took the money from her bag. Police said the victim described her attacker as a slender Negro, about 5-6, in his early 20's. He was wearing a light-colored three-quarter-length coat with stripes, a striped cap and green corduroy trousers.

YOUTH LOSSES LICENSE

Under New Impaired Law. Bruce S. Raam, 18, 15 Oxford Circle, lost his license in Borough Court Monday under the new section of the state Intoxicated Driving laws. Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. revoked Raam's license for six months and fined him $80 for driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Two others lost their licenses for careless driving. Thurmond T. Wilkinson Jr., 26, 32 Shady Brook Lane, lost his license for six months and was fined $30. Edwin A. Hanna, 19, 44 Dodds Lane, lost his for 30 days and was fined $15. Both pleaded not guilty. Mr. Wilkinson was originally charged with reckless driving.

Fines of $12 were paid by Margaret E. O'Neil, 34 Erdman Avenue, and Pearce M. Rayner, 22, 6 Gulick Road, both red light violations, and by John E. Lister, 71, Pennington-Lawrenceville Road, stop sign. Peter F. McGuinness, 58, North Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, paid $38 for speeding.

Mark H. Skolnick, 20, 1938 Hall, Princeton University, paid two fines: $15, failing to yield at an intersection, and $10, no registration in possession. —Continued on Page 12

$1,639

What's the catch?
There isn't any.
$1,639 is the suggested retail price of the port of entry for the VW sedan.

The price includes federal excise tax and import duty.

It also includes the built-in heater/defruster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, front seat belts, and sideview mirror.

It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.

What else do you have to pay?
The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.

There is one optional that makes a lot of sense: the matching leatherette upholstery, for $300 extra. (Nearly everyone orders it because it eliminates the need for slip covers.) And that's it.

Unless, of course, you want the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

tion. In other offices, James C. Strech Jr., 19, 135 Crestview Avenue, paid $15, motor muffler; Stanley Robertson, 31, 260 John Street, $15, unlicensed driver; and Robert E. Chidley 37, Grocers Mill Road, Plainboro, $10, unlicensed driver. The latter appeared in court under a warrant issued by the State Police.

In Township Court last week, Magistrate Glen B. Miller Jr. fined Marvin M. Treiman, 28, 196 Main Street, $15 for careless driving, the same fine he levied against Ruth C. Denine 40, 85 Nassau Drive, for making an improper turn.

In criminal court, two men appeared to answer charges of assaulting their wives.

Roger Teitelman, 311 Farm, Rosedale Road, received a 30-day sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse, when Magistrate Miller then suspended Governor R. Robinson, 63 Leigh Avenue, was fined $25, if, too, was suspended.

In addition, three Princeton drivers have been halted by the Division of Motor Vehicles.
Thomas A. Brill, 24, 241 Sawnden Lane, and James F. Fabrey, 22, Princeton-Harbor Road, Princeton, lost their licenses for 30 and 60 days respectively, for speeding. Too many points resulted in a three-month suspension for Walter Chisolin, 22, 6 Cranbury.

Has "LSD" On Car Ties

Nine hundred license plates bearing the letters "LSD" have been shelled by the New Jersey Motor Vehicles Division. LSD is the controversial hallucinatory drug.
Assistant Director William M. Sales decided to remove the plates even though they have already been removed.
"We decided to hold these plates until we knew as the LSD factor died down, as I am sure it will. Let's see if we can't come up with another drug that will do something more fantastic and LSD will be gone," Mr. Sales said.

THEY GETS $104.50

From Nassau Street Store, Mrs. Bernard Glover, owner of the Betty Wright Shop, 144 Nassau Street, called police Tuesday morning to report the theft of a camera and money from atop a small desk in the rear of her shop.

After discovering her camera missing, Mrs. Glover called police who then decided to check her brown leather purse nearby. There was $104.50 missing from a small zipper compartment, she said.
Set Theodore Lewis investigated. He said Mrs. Glover was not able to give him a valuation of the camera immediately, but would do so later.

An attempted breaking and entering in the Township was reported last week by John C. Warren of The Igloo on Henry Avenue.

He told police when he went to open his restaurant last Wednesday morning, he found the blade of a knife stuck in the trim of the doorway. The blade was not long enough to reach the lock, police said, adding that the culprit was probably frightened off.

BIRTHS

Fourteen Born. Eight girls and six boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Antolipio, 418-C Fergola Avenue, Jamesburg, January 2; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Outka, 111111 Apartments January 3; Mr. and Mrs. John Hartzell, 350 Lawrenceville Road, Princeton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garmon, West-erlies Arms, Hightstown, both on January 4; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Liadubary, 36 Crescent Avenue, Rocky Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Josef Strauber, Hampton Arms Apartments, Hightstown, both on January 5; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kaplan, Apartment 10-D, Franklin Corner Road, Princeton, January 6; and Mr. and Mrs. James Revell, 46 Englightown Road, Jamesburg, January 7.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Di Merlio, Mill-street Road, Cranbury, and Mr. and Mrs. George Pinelli, 214 Valley Road, both on January 3; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peascoe, Coppermine Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Busk, 44 Park Place, both on January 4; Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Field-som, 18 Woodrow Road, Ken-dall Park, January 6; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berry, 24 Western Way, January 7.

CHOIR STUDENTS SHAKEN

In Auto Crash, Barbara Reynolds, 19, Charleston, W. Va., and 11 Mercer, 18 W. Wil-linghampton Pa., students at West-minster Choir College, re-ceived minor injuries when their 1966 Volkswagen colli-ded Thursday with another car on Walnut Lane. Their car's front end was pushed in and its windshield broken.
Miss Reynolds, a passenger, received lacerations of the lip, forehead and heel. She was taken in a police patrol car to Princeton Hospital for treat-ment. Mr. Melver sustained bruises.

The mishap occurred when Walter E. Johnson, 73, of Danforth, N. H., pulled in front of the Melver car in en-gendering from a driveway at the Choir College. He told po-lice his vision had been block-ed by a line of parked cars on Walnut Lane. Ptl. Arthur Jackson issued no summonses.

received whiplash injuries when the car in which she was riding ran into a car backing out of a parking space on lower University Place.

Margaret S. Austen, 32, 10 Princeton Avenue, told Borough police she was unable to stop in time. Police identified the driver of the second car as James J. Crooke, 35, of Trenton.

TO STUDY SOCIAL ILLS

In Adult School Course, The Princeton Adult School's lecture course for this semester will examine "Trouble Spots in Our Society," in a series of ten lecture-discussions conducted by Dr. Harriet Mann of the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, the course will take up such problems as crime, sexual deviancy, drugs and mental illness.

A complete listing of all the courses at the Adult School may be found on pages 20 and 21 of this issue.

Students in Dr. Mann's course will begin with an examination of the manner in which a simple culture handles threats to social stability, and will then examine the more complex threats and defenses of modern industrial society.

Those participating will be divided into small discussion groups and asked to decide whether they feel the most pressing social problem. The course will attempt to determine whether technological society tries to mask its real problems by dwelling on apparent ones.

Since the course will be offered in the high school auditorium, registration is unlimited. Those interested in doing background reading for the series will be able to meet with Dr. Mann at the Adult School open house, next Thursday, January 19, at the High School.

TWO LAND IN JAIL

Following Ransom Fight, A theft at a Princeton barber shop which led to a fight between two men armed with razors ended with both being committed to Mercer County Jail.

James Hall, 45, 145 John Street, charged with atrocious assault, was committed to Mercer Jail Monday in default of $1,500 bail. Clement A. Jackson, 18, 207 John Street, was charged with atrocious assault, breaking and entering and larceny. His bail will be set by the Mercer County's Prosecutor's Office. He is presently in jail.

Police were called to the Nassau Inn early Sunday morning to the place where a fight who sold two men were in the lobby fighting and one was slugging badly. When Sgt. Michael Carnevale arrived, he found Jackson slugging hysterically and Hall holding a razor in his hand. Hall, police said, refused to turn over the razor but obeyed Sgt. Carnevale's order to drop it.

Later at Princeton Hospital, police found nearly $75 in change in Jackson's coat pockets and numerous articles apparently taken from a barber shop. Among them were nine razors, a strap, wristwatch, three combs, nailfiles, and five packages of cigarettes.

With the indication that a

Topics Of The Town

barbershop had been rented, police backtracked and found a broken window in the front door of Jimmie's Barber Shop, 141 Join. In the rear of the shop they found a waste basket loaded with more bartering equipment. Inside, the barber chairs had been broken and the cigarette machine broken. Police said they believe that Jackson, finding he had too much loot to carry away by himself, tried to recruit help at razor point from both. Both suspects told the police conflicting stories.

ROAD PLAN PASSED

In Township, The Township Planning Board unanimously passed the new road Master Plan Monday night. Passage sails down in final and legal form the Board's statements on Springle Road made at the final public hearing in November.

Springle's connection to Alexander will be "avoided" until the southwestern part of the Loop Road is built, so that Springle will become a major arterial street. However, this part of the Loop Road hasn't been built by the end of 1970, "the extension of Springle should be undertaken in the interest of sound road master planning."

In the meantime, for safekeeping, the Planning Board wants to acquire the right-of-way for Springle and build parts of the road if it's necessary to do so as the University's married-student housing project continues.

In the southwestern part of the Township, the so-called C-2 Loop Road is given preference over the C-2 chiefly because C-2 is located entirely in the Stony Brook flood plain and would be unusable for about seven days out of the year.

It would also require a new bridge over Stony Brook at Rockton Street which would cost, with grading, about $100,000. However, the plan keeps C-2 as an alternate, and a limited-access road from Rinecote to Mercer.

The Board eliminated from its map the theory path through Marquand Park because "The Borough will not in the foreseeable future, come to Marquand to Elm with a road through Marquand..."

Ray K. Sander, Planning Board chairman, elected to the post at Monday night's meeting said that "numerous meetings had been held with property owners affected by the road plan. 'It is not a perfect plan," he observed, "but we hope it will help to relieve traffic pressures."

New Building. Also on Monday night, the Board heard Henry Houghton describe a two-story "professional and office" building his firm plans to construct on Alexander Street.

The structure, to be built on land formerly occupied by the Miller coal company, will occupy 512 square feet of a lot which has 230 feet on Alexander and a depth of 130 feet. The building will have two stories, and a basement area suitable as office space because of land slope.

Mr. Houghton told the Planning Board he had about 70 parking spaces. The Township Board ordinance has different parking requirements for office space and professional space which accounts for the "and office" and "about." The new building can comply with either one. The firm hopes to break ground in about a week. This afternoon, before the Board follows a new policy of releasing an enormous site plan presentation of all large structures to the board can check on parking, traffic screening, drainage and the like. The board hopes it can legalize such appearances through future zoning legislation.

And In 1967... Looking into 1967, Mr. Sander said that pushing ahead on the 192 by-pass and that southwesterly part of the loop road were major for 1967.

A Loop Road Committee has been formed, consisting of representatives from Borough and Township Planning Boards, West Windsor, the Theological Seminary, Princeton University, the Institute for Advanced Study, the residents'istle Park Association with Albert L. Kress and Walter J. Kaumann and private citizens, including Charles K. Cole and Aburdie C. Smith.

 The chairman said that 1967 would see more work toward a Regional Planning Board with another meeting between Township and Borough scheduled for the near future. Open Space proposals, fiercely attacked in pre-Christmas hearings, had been returned to the Open Space Commission, Mr. Sander said.
 He said the revised zoning ordinance would probably be in the hands of Township Committee by the end of the year, and a report from the housing committee by spring, with hearings next fall.
 A "courtesy and information" session, public invited, will be held between Princeton Hospital and the Planning Board on February 12 in Township Hall, Mr. Sander announced.

FREE ON $100 BAIL
 After Assaulting Woman, Harold Graves, 44, 17 Lytle Street, is free on $100 bail after he was charged with assaulting a woman in the Lytle Street house where he lives. Borough Police said they received a call at 9:22 Saturday morning from Mrs. Nevada MacPherson, 17 Lytle, reporting that she had just been assaulted by a man. She was taken to Princeton Hospital by police where five sutures were needed to close small wounds on her neck and thumb.

OFFICERS NAMED
 By Betsey Squad. The First Aid and Rescue Squad has elected its new officers for 1967. Installation will take place at a dinner at squad headquarters on Saturday, January 21.
 Those named were George Hunt, president; John Schaefer, vice-president; Arthur Stoller, secretary; Albert Toot, treasurer; Norman Pomeroy, captain; Richard Treger, first lieutenant; Vincent Ross, second lieutenant; David McCloskey, head driver; Norman Fowler, head trustee; Arthur Stoller, first trustee; John Fugill, second trustee; William Schroeder, third trustee.
 Also, Raymond Rodwell, fourth trustee; George Hunt, Albert Toot and Norman Fowler, delegates to the State First Aid Council; Richard Treger, John Fugill and Andrew O'Hara, alternate delegates; Raymond Rodwell, chaplain.

PEACE GROUP TO MEET
 For New Assignments, The Princeton Group to End the War in Vietnam will meet next Wednesday, January 18, at 8:30 p.m. at the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church.
 Reports will be made and new assignments will be given out. All those interested in the group's work are invited. Those wishing further information should call Mrs. George Patterson, 924-0261.

HOW TO GOVERN
 League to Hear Officials. Local government officials will speak to members of the League of Women Voters at a series of unit meetings to be held during January.

Obituaries

Dr. Malverne Reeve, 191, of Rocky Hill died on January 6 in Princeton Hospital. The elderly doctor in New Jersey practiced in Rocky Hill and the surrounding areas from 1882 until his retirement in 1930.

Dr. Reeve was country doctor in the great tradition. He babies, sometimes paid "in kind" in lieu of his $10 fee. He traveled by horse and buggy in all weather and at all hours to visit patients in Monmouth Junction, Princeton, Kingston, Jamesburg and Trenton. He later acquired one of the first automobiles in Rocky Hill, a Ford touring car.

Born June 17, 1883, in Philadelphia, he attended Muhlenberg Medical College and practiced briefly in Bridgeton where he met his wife, the late Louise M. Reeve. They raised and lost their only son.

The first in Rocky Hill to have a telephone, Dr. Reeve was a charter member and founder of Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association, a supporter of the baseball team, and a member of the Reformed Church of Rocky Hill and Princeton Lodge 38 F.A.M.

Street named for him, Rocky Hill resident staged a parade in his honor to mark his 100th birthday. Last June, Church Street was renamed Reeve Road in a special ceremony on his birthday.

Dr. Reeve lived with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson in Rocky Hill since the death of his wife in 1933. He was a patient in Princeton Hospital last August with a kidney malfunction but returned home for Thanksgiving. Because Mrs. Thompson is in her 80's, has also been ill, the hospital arranged a home care program for him with the Princeton Visiting Nurse Association and the Princeton Homekeeper Service. He died shortly after he was readmitted to the hospital on January 7.

Surviving are his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Reeve Drake of West Trenton and 10 nieces and nephews.

The service was held in Rocky Hill Reformed Church, the Rev. Earl Jibay officiating. Interment was in Rocky Hill Cemetery under direction of the Kinable Funeral Home.

Dr. Malverne Reeve

Albert Van Zandt, 79, of Route 518, Blawenburg, a retired electrical engineer, died on January 8 in a Cranbury nursing home after a lengthy illness. He was the husband of Mrs. Nancy H. VanZandt.

A native of Blawenburg, Mr. VanZandt served as an electrical engineer during the building of the Panama Canal. He was a captain with the Army Corps of Engineers in World War I. An elder in the Dutch Reformed Church, he was a member of the Princeton Agriculture Association, the Millstone-Stony Brook Watershed Association, Mercer Grace 77 and was a former secretary of the Somerset County Agricultural Association.

Also surviving are a son, William C. VanZandt of Cranbury; a daughter, Mrs. Anne Somary of New York City; a brother, J. Percy VanZandt of Blawenburg and four grandchildren.

The service was held in the Dutch Reformed Church, the Rev. Albert Smith officiating. Interment was in Blawenburg Cemetery. Contributions may be sent to the memorial fund on the Dutch Reformed Church.

Gerald A. Bramwell Jr., 22, died suddenly on January 2 in Keene Valley, N. Y. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Bramwell of 77 Bayard Lane.

Thomas Hillman, 64, head orderly at Princeton University's McCosh Infirmary, died January 9 at Princeton Hospital after a long illness. A native of Cheraw, S.C., he had been in the University's employ for 45 years.

A confirmed sports fan, Mr. Hillman had a long record of attendance at Princeton's home football games. Last fall, when he was too ill to take his usual seat on the players' bench, he watched from a car parked behind the end zone.

Mr. Hillman and his sisters, Mabel and Bessie, have been familiar figures at Princeton for three generations. Miss Mabel was head cook at the infirmary for 46 years until her retirement in 1963, and was succeeded in the position by her sister.

During World War II, Mr. Hillman and his sisters maintained a "Down South Garden" to alleviate the shortage of fresh vegetables. Crown Lear Palmer Physical Laboratory, the produce was used for patients in the infirmary.

His sisters survive him, as does a stepbrother, Robert Rivers of 21 Green Street. The service will be at 2 p.m. this Thursday at Mr. H. H. H. A.M.F. Church, 170 Witherspoon Street. Interment will be in Franklin Memorial Park.

Mrs. Anne P. Aaron, 50, of the Princeton-Kingston Road, died on January 4 in Princeton Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was the wife of Clotter Aaron.

Also surviving are six children, Wyle and Julia at home, Clotter of Philadelphia, Richard of New York City, Temple of Erie, Pa., and Paige of the University of Denver.

A private funeral was held. William W. Hart, 64, died suddenly on January 5 at his home, 385 Westville Road, Hopewell. He was the husband of Mrs. Emily Hart.

Mr. Hart was a supervisor at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute for 31 years. Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Leon Narek of Trenton, Mrs. Mary Peraz of Monville and Mrs. Roy Brinham of Hopewell; a sister, Mrs. Dewey McCoullins of Hopewell, and seven grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Hopewell, the Rev. Robert Herringer of Hopewell Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery.

Horace W. Leich, 62, of Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, died on January 8 in Princeton Hospital. He was a school bus driver in Hopewell Township.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Elizabeth A. Leich, at home; a son, Robert W. Leich of Douglas, Ariz., and four grandchildren.

Watch for Flammable Dells.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I wish to warn parents of a fall with a highly flammable doll. The doll has a rag type body, but is made of a plastic that burns very easily and fast. There are two brands. The one we have located in Princeton has had a blue and white label on the bottom of the feet stating "Made in Poland." The other brand name is "A. D. Suttons and Sons, style 555, England."

If your child should be in the possession of such a doll, the fire department recommends immediate destruction of the toy.

If you have a question about such a doll, please call me at 921-1491.

RICHARD H. WOOD

35 Maple Street

Greetings, from Santa

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now, Christmas of 1966 is history; we have just ended our 17th year of Operation Telephone to Santa Claus.

I had the joy and the privilege in ten days of trying to bring great joy and much happiness to so many small fry throughout New Jersey, Mercer County and Princeton.

Even their mothers enjoyed as did the children. In the ten days of about seven happy hours daily, I interrogated happy children who were have liked to have dealt with many more, but I felt that 800 was all I could handle. In 17 years older now than I was in December, 1949, when I began. At that time, the total was 190 children in only three hours and five shifts.

I wish everyone who will read these lines a most prosperous and a LULU of a very Happy New Year in my name. Ever your loyal old friend,

HENRY SCHULTZ

9 Lincoln Court

Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS joins with New Jersey, Mercer County and Princeton, in extending to the kind Mr. Schultz, our loyal old Santa for 17 years, a LULU of a happy 1967.

Protests School Plan.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The school board claims to have already held a public hearing on the proposed re-districting and a reallocation plan for our new regional school system, the hearing having taken place on January 2nd. Unfortunately, the contents of this proposed plan were not disclosed to parents, home-owners, or the press prior to the hearing.

But many aspects of the plan seem to be of questionable merit. For example, an elementary school serving 800 students (not including 45 high school students) created by combining the students from Community Park, Johnson Park, and Littlebrook Schools with almost all of the Borough elementary school students. A school of this size is sometimes recommended for upper grades but, as to my knowledge, for the elementary grades.

Thus before the board takes action on this plan, which greatly affects the character of our school system, I hope that they will schedule a "public hearing" so that the reasons behind their recommendations may be made clear.

B. C. STABLER

55 Balcor Drive

Editor's Note: The John Witherspoon School was designed to accommodate 900 boys and girls, and was originally designed to separate various groups. School board members estimate that at any one time, there would be only about 150 pupils in the building from one room to another.

Board members also say that the January 3 meeting was not a "public hearing" but an explanation of the administrative staff's proposed plan.

TOWN TOPICS

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter or subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to the Editor should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. Those received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use in the following week.

Housing Is the Key.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Regardless of the merits of the plan, disagreement between the Princeton Regional School Board and the Teachers Association, on which respect few outsiders are competent to speak, the dispute highlights again the lack of suitable housing in Princeton.

Addresses in the State Directory indicate that some 55% of Princeton's teachers live outside the district they teach.

Of the male teachers — heads of families and primary wage earners — 76% are effectively excluded from becoming members of the community.

Many others besides teachers are affected. They too have no choice. The crucial point is that a people should have a place where to live where they work.

In 1965 the Dilley Report pointed out that middle income housing is one of the most serious problems in the community. It stated flatly that "... ways must be found to provide for middle income families."

New ways have been developed to make such housing possible without increasing tax rates. In addition, Gov. Hughes has announced his intention to support legislation providing legal assistance to tenants who are unable to pay their rent.

It is up to us who believe such a thing is desirable and feasible to write back that proposal by convincing our legislators. And we can make our voices heard in the meetings of Borough Council and Township Committee. The too have an obligation to take steps that will lead to solution of the local problem.

Salaries Are Inadequate.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I feel it necessary to comment on Mr. David Brodsky's letter in your issue of December 29.

Teachers feel the need for improvement of their salaries. Their energies on behalf of their children extend far beyond the 8.30 to 2.40 "teaching hours." Their willingness to stay after hours to help a slow learner or to encourage a child over a temporary setback is a true example of their genuine love and devotion to their students. They are constantly striving to improve their own capabilities as teachers and as individuals.

It is the truth and an advanced degree.

It is honestly believe this is an attitude characteristic of all teachers? This, in my opinion, idealistic thinking.

I do believe, however, that Princeton boasts a larger number of such teachers than many areas in the State.

Is the truth and an advanced degree.

It is honestly believe this is an attitude characteristic of all teachers? This, in my opinion, idealistic thinking.

Higher Salaries Favored.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Having three children in the Princeton area, I can understand why the Board of Education refuses to give teachers' wages an adequate importance to the community. Obviously the teachers need to be equal to the community.

Of course not all teachers are equal. Some teachers in Princeton are good, some not so good. Some of the best teachers have left Princeton.

I don't see how Princeton can expect to attract and keep the best teachers unless it is willing to pay good salaries. If we paid them more, we would demand more from the teachers in their performance.

Support the Teachers!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a parent of three children in the Princeton Region, I am increasingly concerned with the apparent "boggling" in negotiating teachers' salaries. I strongly support the teachers' request for a realistic salary and would like an opportunity through your paper to persuade Princeton officials to support the teachers in their performance.

ART In Princeton

PAA SHOW PLANNED

For McCarter Theatre. The Princeton Art Association's new exhibition, "Living with Art in Princeton," will open at the McCarter Theatre next Wednesday, January 18, and run through February 15. A preview for Association members and guests will be held Tuesday from 5 to 6 p.m.

The shows features works from private Princeton collections by such artists as Toulouse-Lautrec, Andrew Wyeth, George Grosz, Dudley Morris and John Marin, a Turner drawing and a Durer etching. The exhibition has been assembled by Mrs. James E. Burke and Mrs. George Adair, with the assistance of Mrs. Neal O'Connor, Art Association president.

Included will be many works never before previously exhibited. The Art Association hopes to show will stimulate interest in collecting.

AMERICAN ART ON VIEW

At University Museum. American artists from John S. Copley to Ben Shahn are represented in a new exhibition of 34 drawings in the Princeton of the University Museum.

Also represented are Thomas Sully, Winslow Homer, George Bellows and Lyonel Feininger. The show is being presented as an adjunct to a Princeton undergraduate course on "Art and Civilization in the United States."

The drawings were selected by Prof. Felton Gibbons and Thomas Simon of the Department of Art and Archaeology. The exhibition is open to the public Tuesday through Friday from 10 to noon and 2 to 4.

EAST MEETS WEST

At Gallery 100. A young Chinese artist, Liu, Kuo-Sung, who combines in his work a sense of Eastern tradition and a Western abstract approach is showing his ink paintings at Gallery 100 through January.

As with most Oriental art, one can find great development and appreciation by spending time looking into the content of the pictures. To begin with, the presentation is quietly elegant and fitting, each painting being mounted on fine silk and paper as a scroll or fully framed in broaders of blending color. The actual color tones of the paintings themselves are not bright but as the strength of composition and contrast becomes evident, the few deep blues, and mossy greens, a delicate mauve or ochre takes on insistent vibrance.

Liu, Kuo-Sung's choice of subject reveals his sensitivity towards nature. Landscape, as such, is unimportant in his scheme, but the effects of its elements are the first one gets a clue from the titles: "Echo in the Valley," "Thaw," "Water is Busy," etc. and as one dreams into these pictures the feeling of damp mist rising from melting snow banks, the fury of "white water" or sounds and moods may capture the imagination.

The ink paintings seem to divide into two categories: those done in overall compositions of constant movement; and those which must have a simple obvious and very powerful design. From the former group we choose "Jesa of Clouds" as being one of the most moving and delightful pictures which, while wholly abstract is yet reminiscent of the classic Chinese. Of the latter type there are several outstanding paintings which define hard and soft contrasts: "White Clouds and Autumn Peak" presents a mixture of elements, one illusive and soft floating past another which is hard and impetuous. "Snow and Black" works with the same basic strength of rock beneath the attack of driving snow and "Water is Busy" lives up to the title and is just plain exciting.

Active Career. Born in Nan-king thirty-two years ago, Liu,

Kuo-Sung graduated from Taiwan University with a B.A. in Fine Arts, and has been absorbed ever since in the world of art. He is the founder and leader of the Fifth Moon Group of young painters who have exhibited each May of every year since 1952 seeking no exposure in Western art circles; terms the ancient Chinese word of serene classicism.

Liu, Kuo-Sung has represented Taiwan in many international exhibitions, has written over seventy articles on art and currently is working on his third book on painting.

He is one of six contemporary Chinese artists whose work is touring the U.S., under a John D. Rockefeller III Fund and he is coming to this country for the first time as recipient of a two-year grant for work and study here and in Europe under the auspices of the Institute of International Education.

Having seen his work, one cannot fail to enjoy the delightful and appropriate comment in the Gallery 100 biography. In spite of all the vigor and drive that have enabled him to accomplish so much so soon, Liu, Kuo-Sung remains personally relaxed and modest and readily amused.

SYLVETTE KRAUSE

At the Nassau Club. Through the month of January, the paintings and drawings of Sylvette de Aldre Krause will be shown at the Nassau Club where one may see them week day mornings from 10 to noon and afternoons, 2:30 to 5.

Mrs. Krause, who was born and raised in San Juan, Puerto Rico, is an alumna of the Sacred Heart School in San Juan. She studied art for two years at the Whitney School in New Haven, for one year at the Academy of Belas Artes of San Fernando, Madrid, and again in the University of Puerto Rico where she did mural and fashion design. She has lived in this country for ten years, the five past years in Princeton, with her husband William Krause, President of Symmetries Incorporated, and three children.

Mrs. Krause is exhibiting for the first time in this country at the Nassau Club. Though a few abstractions are shown, most of her work involves figure studies and compositions. Her simple line drawings have a definite sculptural feeling and deliberate movement in a contained design. A portrait head of "Jessee" is unique in its pure drawing and sensitive characterization.

The paintings are studies' figure compositions of what she calls "strange looking people," some "robust," most of them with windows, if not into their souls, at least into their interiors.

Foe Montgomery Schools. The Montgomery Township board of education has announced that the budget for the Township school system for 1967-1968 has been set at $1,233,871, a 25.8 percent increase over last year's sum.

Reasons for the increase were listed as higher staff salaries, retirement of outstanding bonds higher bus transportation costs, increased enrollment, the establishment of a ninth grade program and the maintenance cost of the new school plant.

Of the total figure, $409,187 will be raised through taxes. This is $205,935 more than last year's tax contribution. The rest of the funds will come from government aid, unspent funds from the previous budget and rental income.

over of underestimating studies exist. Mercedes-Benz 230S is a shrewd investment indeed.

A body style first seen in 1959.

Mercedes-Benz engineers refuse to make changes for the sake of change. Superficial styling changes don't make a car better—in fact, they often hinder real technical advances.

And the 230S body is advanced—it's welded at 10,000 points. After 30,000 miles, you may begin to wonder if it will wear rattle.

Nor is it likely to rust. The entire body is punched out of sheet in a primer bath before painting. A tough caulking coat swells into every crevice, every pore. No sooner is the primer baked on than a 24-hour spraying of plasticized undercoat seals the car's underbody against the menace of road salt and rust.

Then comes paint—49 pounds of it, spread on in 7 careful layers. The final coat is hand sprayed, in a paint shop cleaner than a hospital operating room.

Note to snipeickers: You won't find lumpy "orange peel" flaws in the paint. And you won't find pits in the chrome. It's backed by two platings of copper and one of nickel over a steel base. Rust and rot are thwarted again.

The 230S 6-cylinder engine is designed to last the life of the car. It is so perfectly balanced (engine tolerances are as fine as a millionth of an inch) that you can keep it humming almost endlessly at near maximum speeds—with no hint of strain.

Sixty-minute engine test

Every 230S engine hums for an hour at the factory on a special test stand. To flush away every speck of dirt and debris, engine oil is changed 62 times during this trial run.

This engine measures about half the size of a domestic V-8. Yet the 230S hits a peak speed of 109 mph and in normal driving squeezes over 20 miles from a gallon.

A lesson from racing

"Mercedes-Benz engineers know how to build sports car handling qualities into a family sedan—there's no doubt about that in our mind," comments CAR LIFE magazine. The engineers learned how by building a world championship sports-racing car, the 300SLR. Then they adapted its suspension to Mercedes-Benz sedans.

With rear swing axle, wheels act independently.

All 4 wheels on the 230S are separately sprung. They soak up ruts and bumps with-

Yet sensible amenities abound. Items: Social nozzles at either end of the instrument panel. They shoot warm air to defrost the front side windows.

Parists: Note that wood-grain instrument panel trim. Contrary to a popular trend, it's real wood. Contrary to another popular trend, it fits. So does everything else on the 230S. One of every 11 Mercedes-Benz employees is an inspector to keep it that way.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a sober obligation—not a public relations problem. Safety starts with basic car design, not a few tacked-on afterthoughts.

The 230S body is a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area. Front disc brakes and a dual circuit brake system are standard equipment. The vital matter of tires—so often neglected in new cars—is solved with super premium-grade tires on every 230S. Door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle. Inside, there are no sharp edges. Safety padding extends even to the steering wheel hub—and the rear vision mirror is spring mounted, to break away on heavy impact.

Tigers in Top Ten

Princeton's basketball team this week became the first member of the Ivy League to be ranked among the top ten nationally during the regular season. On a basis of their upset of third-ranked North Carolina on the Tar Heels' own court, the Tigers placed seventh in the AP poll and ninth in that undertaken by UPI. The Associated Press surveys a cross-section of sportswriters; UPI bases its ratings on the opinions of coaches in the sport.

The AP poll listed UCLA, Louisville, New Mexico, Houston, North Carolina and Texas Western before Princeton. The Tigers are now 11 and 1, having lost only to Louisville.

LONG TIME NO SEE

Tigers' Gene "Big February" Princeton basketball team's brief home appearance in January was completed with a two-day, near-distant stand last weekend, and the Tigers are New England-bound to play Harvard and Dartmouth Friday and Saturday. Following a fortnight's break for examinations, they will see Penn and Rutgers away on January 28 and 30, and will not be seen in Dillon Gym again until early February.

While Harvard has often been a problem to Princeton at Cambridge, the Crimson is an unusually young team that links only a single senior on its squad. Gone are All-Ivy Keith Sedlacek, holder of ten Ivy League scoring records, and Albie Barry Williams, a fine rebounder. Seven-six in last season, the Crimson lost its first two Ivy games on the road last week to Columbia and Cornell, and can cause trouble only to a somnolent Princeton quintet.

HE MADE IT ANYWAY. Chris Thomforde (23), 6-9 Princeton sophomore, sank this field goal attempt despite solid block thrown by Yale's Ed Goldstone. But Thomforde missed the free throw he was awarded and when Tigers dropped below 50% at foul line (9 for 19) they were in serious trouble at evening's end. (TOWN TOPICS photo by George Peterson) suffered during a post-Christmas tournament there, has won four out of nine. Dave Gavitt, freshman coach who was scheduled to replace Julian on the latter's retirement next season, has cleaved to early in a long-range attempt to bring the Indians back to their glory days.

Joe Colgan and Pete Dunlap are Dartmouth's best players. Like Harvard, the Green lacks a single player of tonight's ability and a Princeton team that concentrates on the business at hand can name its own margin.

Coasting Can Be Dangerous.

A Princeton basketball team that played one of the best first 20 minutes ever seen in Dillon Gymnasium came back to play one of the worst final 20 minutes within memory. Had it not been for an offensive foul called against Bob McCullum of Yale in the final 15 seconds, the Elis would have gotten off a shot that might have sent the game into overtime, with victory over a badly demoralized Princeton team at least an even bet to follow. As it was, the Tigers managed to bring the ball across the center line in the remaining 11 seconds and run out the clock for a 77-75 triumph.

What apparently hit the Tigers was a combination of three straight easy halves a halfhearted Yale plus a flat refusal on the part of a well-balanced Eli quintet to give up. The visitors were down by 39-30 at halftime, after Princeton scored 74% from the floor and held the Blue scorless from the free-throw line by committing only a single foul.

What happened after the intermission was as complete a score reversal on the part of both teams as Dillon Gym has ever witnessed. Ahead by almost all of their first half margin (47-30) with only nine minutes to go, Princeton was outshot, outbounced and outplayed for the rest of the period. Under such circumstances, it was encircled, 22 to 10.

The Tigers lost all control of their own boards, as the Elis during one stretch made five straight points. When Yale fouled to gain possession, Princeton could produce just one of six potential points on three successive one-and-one situations at the free-throw line.

Possibly most surprising of all was the Tigers' inability to withstand an all-court press. Yale forcing errors or intercepting numerous times during its great rally against Princeton.

such teams as Villanova, Davidson and North Carolina, all played away from home, the Orange and Black passed and controlled the ball to perfection, but last Saturday in Dillon Gym, Princeton lost its cool completely.

Object Lesson. From the Princeton viewpoint, hopes are that the close call the Tigers had will serve to remind them during the weeks ahead that they cannot afford to coast on a 10-point lead. The warning should be particularly helpful when they play Yale at New Haven on February 10.

It was, actually, a breakdown in three separate departments that very nearly allowed the Bulldog to tie a tie to the Tiger's tail. Although Princeton's accuracy continued at a high pitch—the Orange and Black was credited with a 63% average for the complete game—the victors got off only 20 shots in the last 20 minutes, indicative of far too many turnovers.

Joe Heiser's 18 was high for Princeton on a night when all five players were in double figures. Harlow and Gary Walters followed with 16, Ed Hammer and 14 and Thomsen 13—after he had hit for .1 in the first half.

Brown Short on Ability. Hampered by the loss of starter Dave Gale, its 6-5 center, Brown could contain Princeton Friday night only for the first few minutes. By the time the ten-minute mark had been reached, Princeton was in front by 20-10, a lead that had been increased to 46-21 at the intermission.

Conch Bill van Breda Kolff pulled his entire starting team with 11 minutes to go in the second half and the score reading 74-37 for the Tigers. It was a 94-0 final.

Chris Thomsen, hitting on 69% of his shots, led the parade with 24 points. Heister had 16 and Hammer 11. The losers two of whose players had 10 apiece, were held to 30% from the floor. Princeton checking in with 40%.

TIGERS ON TV
In Baker Rink Saturday, The first Princeton hockey game to be televised from Baker Rink will be played Saturday against Dartmouth but the New York-Philadelphia area is, in effect, blacked out. No channel south of Providence has seen fit to give the game air time, and while it will be televised throughout New England, this contest and seven others on successive Saturdays will not be visible here.

DARTMOUTH
It was a brighter picture at Princeton, where Ritchie's three goals for the hot trick paved the Tigers' upset. Terry Peterman added a pair as Princeton won its first game over Brown on the latter's ice in several years.
Regan Kerney has been handling the assignment in the goal. Coach John Wilson reports that he is "tremendously improved."
GALLUP LEADS LEAGUE
After defeating Cynosamid, Gallup Poll increased its lead in the Research and Industrial Basketball League last week as it defeated American Cynosamid, 54-47. Bill Strzyker led the Gallup scoring with 21 points.
Second-place Princeton Hospital downed RCA, 51-30, as Larry Madden scored 15 points. ETS, tied for third place, routed Van Nostrand, 37-30. Clarence Gilbert and Don Gouley each picked up 14 points for the victors.
HUN SCORES UPSET
Over Pennington, 60-52. Playing its first game since December 10, the Hun School basketball team showed considerable improvement despite the long layoff when it upset previously unbeaten Pennington here Saturday, 60-52. Coach Dave Lee's squad is now 1-1 and 1-0 in Penn-Jersey action.
Ahead is a Friday afternoon (3:15) contest with McGrestown at the Princeton Senior gym, and a Wednesday contest with George School in Newtown, Pa. Both will be league titles.
Hun led throughout. Playing without a senior on the squad, Lee's operatives combined some fine shooting and ball control to take a 35-27 halftime lead. "We shot very well and we were able to work the ball better than before," commented Lee. "The boys did a good job."
Freshman Mike Maguire, former standout at St. Paul's, led a balanced Hun attack with 15 points. Sophomores Don Silverstein and Karl Harter combined for 23, while Pete Braveman added eight.

Short of manpower since it won the Ivy League title in 1963, Dartmouth lost three of its first four games this season and counts to a considerable degree on sophomore strength for its scoring punch. The Indians were trounced 12-3 by Brown in their lone league start.
Princeton also has but a single win this season (against eight defeats), losing to Harvard, 6-2, at Cambridge Saturday after upsetting Brown at Providence Last Wednesday.
The contest with the Crimson was one-sided, the home team taking a 5-0 lead before Mason Young and John Ritchie scored for the Tigers. Harvete's Kent Forst made four of the visitors' goals.

The defeat was Pennington's first after winning three.
PHS SKATERS WIN AGAIN
5-2 Over Summit. Displaying its most balanced and polished attack to date, the Princeton High School hockey team overpowered visiting Summit, Saturday, 5-2, at Cranbury, N. J. The second straight victor after dropping their first four.
"I thought it was their best game," said Coach Pete Cook. "Then you consider we've only been skating together for about a month, we've come a long way. I'm very impressed with the team."
PHS scored first when John Rice rammed the puck home with an assist from his brother, Paul. However, Summit came back with a score of its own and the first period ended, 1-1.

LOMBARDO GOES WITH LOMBARDI: Saying in jest that Vic Lombardi was his uncle, Nick Lombardo (right) picks Green Bay to defeat Kansas City by two touchdowns in pro football's Super Bowl this weekend. Not so, says Jim Esposito, who claims Green Bay is an "over-rated team". He picks KC by nine points. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you think will win the Super-Bowl between Green Bay and Kansas City on Sunday, and by how many points?

Where asked: Around town.

Nick Lombardo, Palmer
Square, employee of PSI:
Green Bay by about two touchdowns. Who Green Bay?
They're the best, they're the best team here. You've got to be crazy to get against them. You can't take it away from Green Bay. They're a money team. You know those old pros aren't going to let that $10,000 go by. Kansas City will be glad to get back in the AFL.

James Esposito, 9 Hiram
Road, owner of Atlantic Service Station, Witherspoon
Street: I think Kansas City will beat them by about nine points. Kansas City has the better line and better all-around players. Green Bay is an over-rated team.

Bill Craswell, Dodd Hall, Princeton University (freshman): Green Bay... I'll say by about 10 points. I think Green Bay is the overall stronger team. It has a better defense and more experience of course.

Dave Cameron, Lawrenceville School, senior: I think Green Bay is going to win but it's not going to be as big as everyone thinks it is. I'll say no more than 12 or 13 points.

Richard S. Federico, 293
Hamilton Avenue, cook and baker for Grotto Restaurant:
Kansas City's got the team. I say they'll win by 13 points.
They have a better line, more weight... they're going to give them a good fight. Seriously, Kansas City ought to have no trouble.

Bob Flor, Holder Hall, Princeton sophomore: I think it's really going to be a close game, to tell the truth. Kansas City has enough of an offense to challenge Green Bay. It uses the same style offense as that of Dallas and it has the same balance as Dallas. It's going to be very close. I'll say Green Bay will win it anyway
but it won't win by much.
About one touchdown. Certainly it won't be any more than that and that's only because of their experience.
They've been through this before.

George Leiber, Trenton, construction employee: Kansas City by three points. It doesn't rattle easily like Philadelphia did about Baltimore. I feel KC is a little stronger than Green Bay.

Phil Leona, Hamilton Township, construction worker: I'll take Green Bay by, say, a few points. It'll be a close game because Kansas City is pretty good, too. Be a tight game. I always liked Green Bay they have a good team, more experience.

R. J. Belford Jr., 61 Laurel Road, Gallup International: I think it's only a question of points. I'll be quite surprised if Kansas City scores at all.
I'd like to see Kansas City put up a good show, but I don't think it has a chance. Green Bay is too much team, too much experience. I'll say Green Bay will beat them by at least 28 points.

Frank X. Critchlow, Har-bourtown-Woodville Road, Har-bourtown, owner of Trixie's,
Palmer Square: Bart
Starr and I pick the Green Bay Packers by at least 14 points. Kansas City may appear at the stadium and they may even suit up for the game.

Kent Knowles, 20 Green Street, employee, Toto's Market: I think Green Bay will win by about seven. Green Bay has too much defense for Kansas City, but it won't be any runaway.

Jack Arceco, Hopewell, mechanic for Griggs Service Station: I'll say Green Bay. It won't be any slaughter though.
If anything, Green Bay will be lucky to win by one touchdown. It'll all depend on what happens in the first quarter;
if either gets an early lead or if a key player gets hurt. They all will be playing hard...

there's a lot of money riding on this one. Kansas City won't be any pushover.

Walter E. Morrison, Laurel Avenue, Kingston, postal employee: I'll say Kansas City in an upset. It'll be close.
About 21 to 14. Kansas City has the incentive to win. They want to prove the AFL is just as good as the NFL. Their players are just as big and just as fast as those on Green Bay.
Bart Starr is some quarterback
but Dawson is pretty good, too.

Marvin Brown, 14 Oakland Road, part owner of Princeton Clothing: Green Bay by two touchdowns. It will be closer than a lot of people think. Green Bay has the power, they've got the top quarterback, and they're up to full strength. They're not marred by injuries.

Jim Borock, Bordenwood,
Public Service employee:
Green Bay is going to take it by 14 points. I don't see where Kansas City has much of a chance; Green Bay has too much experience in championship games.

Frank G. Pisano, Trenton, Public Service employee: I like Green Bay by three. But if they play like they did against Dallas, I don't know.
Green Bay didn't show anything on defense and the Packers are supposed to be a defensive team. No one could
too. —Continued On Page 29

Blue and White spurted with two goals in 12 seconds. Steve Holmington got the first. Paul Rice setting it up. Rice, said Cook skated from every body and "laid it right in the crease." Twelve seconds later, Henry Sommer caused the light to flash. "That sort of broke the game open," said Cook.

Linder Gets No. 4. Bobby Linder tallied Princeton's fourth goal early in the first period, assisted by Sommer and John Rice. With about four minutes to go Paul Rice beat the Summit goalie on a solo shot.

"The fact that five different boys scored says something," Cook pointed out. "We're coming along as a team. We're starting to develop some hockey sense."

Paul Rice, especially, is starting to make the plays. Before, he either skated through everybody or we didn't score. It makes a big difference." Because of a schedule mix-up two weeks ago, the team will be inactive until Wednesday when it will play Livingston High School. The contest is scheduled for 6:30 at the new Princeton Day School Rink. Should the rink not be ready in time, Cook said he believed the contest would be held at Baker Rink.

BOWLING NOTES

Pinelli, Cifelli Roll 610. A pair of fine 530 series opened the second half of action in the B League last week. Mike Pinelli had 151-258-251 and Bob Cifelli, 250-170-210.

Not far behind were Jake Bartolone—184-236-205 (625)—and Bob Senierelli, 223-202-183 (600). Bill Cavataugh has a pair of 234s and Pete Fiumencro 9 223. Sicciannelli and Balestrieri Construction were tied for first with six points each after one week. Clustered in second spot with four points apiece were Princeton Del, Central Park, Nassau Del and Leo's Gulf.

In the Blue Angels high school league, Mike Skillman, called 214-183; Harry Cabn, LEAD PBS SKATERS IN SCORING: Paul Rice (left) and hobby Linder, provide the scoring thrust for Coach Pete Cook's Little Tiger seael which has won its last two in a row. Each scored a goal in Saturday's 5-2 victory over Summit.

173-169, and Brendan Steechini, 166. Team scoring is Tips, 16; Hi-Lo's, 14; King Pins, 12; and Exports, 8. Diane Fowler's 222 paced the Business Women; Mella Crusier posted a 501 series on games of 211-197-183. Others enjoying a good night were Barbara Gilliland, 185; Lillian Burrough and Lynda Hahn-mister, each 178; and Doll Forsyth, 173-168.

Trent's Day Nursery continues its runaway in the standings, and now enjoys an 88-66 margin over Jefferson Plumbing and Bucci Builders, the latter two tied for second.

PORSCHE COMES HERE
Princeton Motors Dealers, Sports & buffs will delight in the announcement that Princeton Motors, this area's Volkswagen dealer on Route 206, has been awarded a Porsche dealership.

Owner Harold Schwartz and Charles Rosen said Princeton Motors would be the only Porsche dealer in the central Jersey area. They added that models of the 4-cylinder 912 and six cylinder 911 and 911S would be on display in their showroom. And, as in Volkswagen, Princeton Motors will have on hand a complete stock of parts, special tools and factory-trained Porsche mechanics.

In the highly competitive arena of sports car design, Porsche enjoys one of the highest reputations. Many experts say simply that it is the finest high-performance car in the world.

Together with its unsurpassed road handling, cornering, the Porsche is an unusually safe car. It has four-wheel disc brakes, rack and pinion steering and many of the safety features being made mandatory by the U.S. government, including impact absorbing front shaft and front sheet metal section.

Its durability and ruggedness are legendary. Unlike many of its high-priced rivals, when a Porsche fails to finish a race, it's news. And, despite its power to mangle, the car is comfortable and safe for ferrying driving. The Porsche bucket seats are labled for their comfort.

All Porsche are virtually hand built. In contrast to American production lines, where cars are produced at the rate of thousands a day, only 40 are built each day in the Porsche factory in Germany. Though not inexpensive, the Porsche, considering it is one of the finest Grand Turismo available is actually one of the best automotive buys. Said Road and Track magazine: "The 911S handles predictably and controllably and is head and shoulders above practically any thing else on the road."

PRINCETON MOTORS

FIRST PORSCHE BUYER: Charles W. Greener, 31 Hemlock Circle (second from right) is about to purchase a 1967 Porsche from Princeton Motors, Route 206, which has acquired a Porsche dealership, first in the central Jersey area. At left are Ed Holsen, salesman, and Harold Schwartz, co-owner of Princeton Motors. Charles Rosen, Mr. Schwartz's partner, is at right.

between Lawrence High School and Princeton High, originally set for Princeton, was held Friday at Lawrence. The Lawrence coach thought the match was going to be a layover battle (the Cardinals without a senior class are participating only on this level this year) but PHIS showed up with a mixture of junior varsity and varsity members.

In two weight classes, Lawrence had no entrants; in the 155-pound class two matches were held. Said Little Tiger coach Tom Murray, "We tried to match up the weights as well as possible."

In the melange of matches that followed, Lawrence lost all but two. The Cardinals' Dan McElwain defeated Jim Heacock in the 130-lb. class and Princeton's Dick Winterbottom lost a decision in the 141-lb. division.

Among the several pins recorded by PHIS, Abe Menasche's was the most spectacular. He needed only 15 seconds. Others earning five points for PHIS via a pin were Hank Wilkinson, 115; Marty Peabody, 136; Ross Boyer, 146; Nick Arcaro, 155; Ken Grob, 175; and sophomore Jim Koplner, 205-poundweight. Stu Bell and Bobby Arcaro won decisions.

Murray reported he was en-

Telephone man Tom Maule got the idea in a super market.

Several months ago Tom Maule, a New Jersey Bell engineer, walked into his local super market and discovered a new way to help a handicapped person use the telephone.

Tom had been trying to figure out a way to adapt standard telephone equipment for use by one of his customers, Jim Miller, a paralyzed Korean War veteran who was confined to his bed and only able to move a portion of his right thumb.

The telephone engineer found the answer when he stopped on a floor mat that automatically opens super market doors for package-burdened shoppers. Maule figured that if he could set up a similar device — but one requiring only a few ounces of pressure — he would be able to help Jim Miller. After locating the manufacturer of automatic door openers, Tom learned that he could obtain a ribbon-like switch that operated on the same principles as a door opener, but required only 8 ounces of pressure to operate.

With the ribbon-switch attached to a "Bell hands-free" Speakerphone that permits conversation without lifting a receiver, Jim Miller is now able to use his telephone as easily as you do. Incoming calls come in normally. Outgoing calls are placed through an operator.

Tom Maule is a member of New Jersey Bell's engineering group that designs unique equipment and systems for people who have special problems using the telephone.

If you have of someone who has a special problem using the telephone, call your local New Jersey Bell Business Office today.

The Association's reserve is now more than $300,000, a new high in excess of legal requirements. Association officers announced Executive vice-president E. Foster Jr. stated, "We believe that our growth reflects the confidence in us of the thrif-minded people in the Princeton area. This confidence has resulted in our continually seeking new and better ways of serving the public, and providing our community with prudent financial leadership."

Bob Richardson was most effective in the opening, posting a 220-223-162—605 effort. High singles were a 247 by Elmer Wilson and 224 by Frank Stofko. Joe Shervan earned all laurels for consistency; he collected triplicate games of 165. (What are the odds on doing that?)

WHAT VALUE SERENDIPITY?

Like the proverbial chicken and egg paradox, serendipity on the mind of medical men is a concept which comes first — the drug or the disease?

Why it is that most drugs are intentionally discovered, designed, and developed with a specific use or medical problem in mind, there are numerous vital medications that owe their existence to serendipity. Literally, they were active and interesting compounds that were looking for a use to treat some. Some examples include: A drug which helped to slow down the elimination of penicillin from the body, the which is now widely used in the management of painful gout; a compound developed unexpectantly as a cancer remedy, which is used effectively today in the treatment and prevention of a severe viral infection of the eye; and an antibiotic which was too powerful to be used as a broad-spectrum antibiotic, but which has proven lifesaving in the palliative treatment of a rare but normally fatal cancer of young children.

Many of the medicinal compounds, the medical value of which was often discovered unexpectedly, even by accident. This does not mean, however, that many years of studies, diseases and compound structures in the pharmaceutical laboratory did not play a vital role in these discoveries.

Many of the vital medicines available in your neighborhood pharmacy are available to help us today because pharmaceutical scientists pursued their quest for fundamental knowledge in preparation for "serendipity."

MUSIC In Princeton

JANOS STARKER HEARD
Given Standing Ovation.
Janos Starker was the featured soloist for the second series program of the current season and this renowned cellist did not disappoint his audience with his performances Monday evening at McCarter Theatre.

He was assisted at the piano by Leon Pommer, one of the best recital accompanists in the business. Mr. Starker played the "Fantasies" Opus 73 of Robert Schumann; the "Sonata No. 3 in A Major," Opus 69 by Beethoven; and the "Sonata For Unaccompanied Cello," Opus 8 by Jozsef Kodaly.

Mr. Starker's technique is about as flawless as a musician's can be. Everything he played appeared effortless.

However, this very quality left the impression with this writer, at first, that the artist never seemed to become fully involved with the Schumann and Beethoven works. He played the music in a businesslike manner, with musicianship, unquestionably, but at the same time, with detachment that one might describe as "cool," certainly these were not passionate or even warm readings to scores that are extremely expressive and commanding in addition to their lyric qualities.

The performance of the Kodaly unaccompanied Sonata was an entirely different matter. It was the composition that made both its composer and Mr. Starker famous, for no one probably plays it better than does he. Here his tone was intensely warm, strong and dynamic. The music itself is one of the great liturgical treatises in which perhaps Kodaly's greatest and most accomplished achievement as a composer. Mr. Starker's rendition left the McCarter audience quite spellbound and the standing ovation that followed was widely deserved. —Arnold Sarafan

ON STAGE, ONLY

For formal recital, stage seats only remain for Isaac Stern's first Princeton recital on Wednesday, February 11. He is appearing at McCarter on Monday at 8:30 as one of the "Musical-McCarters" artists.

He will play Bartok's Sonata No. 1, Schubert's Sonata Op. 137 No. 3 and works by Chopin, Tchaikovsky and Kreisler.

FAMILY DUET

In Next Concert, Christa Ludwig, mezzo-soprano, and Walter Berry, baritone, will appear in McCarter Theatre in recital next Tuesday in the University Center Series. Mr. Berry is a descendant of the Dukes of Burgundy, who left France to settle in Vienna.

The baritone made his debut in "Don Giovanni" under Furtwängler's baton. He is a regular member of the Vienna State Opera.

For their Princeton program, they have chosen songs by Purcell, Cherubini, J.S. Bach, Schubert, Brahms and Wolf.

"DIABELLI" PROGRAMMED
By Peter Serkin. The complete "Diabelli" variations of Beethoven will be played by Peter Serkin when he makes his Princeton debut at McCarter on Thursday, February 2. Tickets are now on sale at McCarter.

One of the eminent pianists, Rudolf Serkin, Peter Serkin has already established his reputation as one of the country's leading young keyboard artists. His McCarter recitals will include works such as Schoenberg and Mozart.

CRITIC AND COMPOSER:
Arno Safran, 9 West Franklin Avenue, Trenton, has composed a two-movement orchestral work, "Sinfonia Breve," which will be performed under Nicholas Harasni's direction next Wednesday in Madison. This work will be the world premiere of the piece. The music was originally conceived as an "Ode to the four seasons. The two movements to be played in premier represent the composer's impressions of "Spring" and "Winter." Mr. Safran, assistant professor of music at Trenton State College, is music critic for TOWN TOPICS.

FOLK SOCIETY TO MEET
To See Film. The Princeton Folk Music Society will hold its monthly meeting on Friday at 8:25 p.m. in the auditorium of the former Nassau Street School. The public is invited.

The program will feature a film produced by Leo Dorfman of all Harris Road on "The Waters Family," a group of English balladeers. The film has been favorably reviewed by several folk music critics.

AMATEURS TO SING
Brahms Requiem. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will meet Sunday at 5 at the Unitarian Church. The program, conducted by Walter Nollner, will be Brahms' Requiem.

Seals will be Susan Robinson, soprano, and Harriet Trepo, bass. The public is invited. Those planning to attend should notify Mrs. M. E. Guttlieb, 921-7214.

WEINRICH TO BE HEARD
In Memorial Organ Recital. Carl Weinrich will give the McCarter Memorial Organ Recital Sunday at 3:30 in the sanctuary of Helena W. McCann, daughter of the chapel organ. He will be assisted by the University Orchestra, directed by Robert Freeman.

The program will consist of three Piques for Organ or Harpsichord by Handel; Fantasy in F minor by Mozart; Concerto for Organ and Brass by Norman Lockwood; three Sonatas for Organ and Orchestra by Mozart; and the Concerto in F#d, A No. 2, by Handel. The recital is open to the public.

STEINER TOPS PHS
As Head Soccer 41. It appears that the Princeton High School team is competing well in the state as the year's winning performers set school scoring records.

Last week, PHS was the victim of a record 37-point performance by Notre Dame's Stan Kysilski. Tuesday evening, Steiner's all-anything. Don Dies, in a little gymnasium, went Stan four better: he poured in 41 points to set an all-time single-game scoring high for the Spartans. His 41 points were less than the entire PHS team. Final score: Steiner 74, PHS 47.

The time for pulling itself up by its bootstraps as the champion of the Blue and White. Tuesday's encounter required little work as the 11th contest this season — exactly the halfway mark of its 22-game schedule. Of those first 11, it has won only four.

The Little Tigers have run out of cushion. If they hope to be considered for a berth in the annual post-season NIS-IAA tourney, they must win all of their remaining January contests. Immediate roadblocks are in view: a game with the best offensive team of the season, the Little Tigers, at 4, and Somerville. The latter game will be played Tuesday at Somerville.

The home team Spartans (5-4) started fast, taking a 19-9 margin after their first eight minutes of play. The next two periods were even, but in the final quarter, Steiner again doubled Princeton's output.

For PHS, Alan Moring played his best offensive game of the season. He hit double figures for the first time and led the Little Tigers with 12. Tom Wood had 10.

CLASS STARTS MONDAY
In Weightlifting. A special program in weightlifting and body building will start Monday at 8:25 p.m. in the gymnasium of the YMCA's winter schedule.

Open to high school boys, the course will be held three times a week, Monday, Wednesday and Fridays from 8:30 to 9:30 for six weeks. Mel Knight will be the instructor.

Other openings exist in a junior life savings course and in judo classes. Complete information is available from the Y office, 924-4825.

UNITY IS THEME

Of Prayers and Study. Final preparations are underway in Princeton this week for the joint observance by Catholics and Protestants of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity and for the interdenominational Ecumenical Study.

The Week of Prayer begins next Wednesday, January 18, and continues through Wednesday, January 25. Similar preparations are being made in the Hill, Princeton, Hopewell and Trenton as part of the national observance. The Week is sponsored by the Faith and Order departments of the World Council of Churches, and World Council of Churches, in conjunction with the Roman Catholic Bishops' Commission for Ecumenical Affairs.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Bernard)

Did you know that permanent waving is an actual process? It is a controlled method of changing the structure, quality and mass of the hair. This same oxidizing process, the changing of the hair's structure, can and does take place in a natural and uncontrollable manner. Also, it takes place through the chemical intervention of a form of heat, air and an alkaline condition.

For example, the heat of the sun with the air it reacts on the hair and creates change. We call it sun damage or fading, or split ends. We also know that the more alkaline the hair is bleached or highly processed, the easier and quicker it will "oxidize" or fade and split. It is this knowledge, applied logically and scientifically, that makes it possible to give a hair a soft-looking wave that will hold sets and will not relax after the first shampoo.

There are eight steps to beautiful Permanent Waving. Shampoo, Protein conditioning, Wrapping, Waving Lotion, Curl, Testing Neutralizing, Protein Acidifying and Setting. BULLETIN NOTES

Muslim services begin in Princeton this Thursday with Eid-al-Fitr prayers at 9 a.m. in the music room of Murray-Dodge Hall, Princeton University. The prayers will be followed by light refreshments. An reception is scheduled for 8 p.m. this Saturday in the west room at Murray-Dodge Hall. Free information may be obtained from Zafar Agha, (924-6746) or Humamudh Abdul-Ali (924-2762).

Fundamentals of Christian faith are the basis of a series of 11 sermons by the Rev. Dr. Leon W. Gibson of Princeton Methodist Church, which began last Sunday. He is using as his outline the familiar passages of Eph. 1:1-14 and 1:15-23. This Sunday he will preach at 11 a.m. on the topic, "His Only Son."

"A Case Study of a Negro College" will be discussed by Dr. Charles Sayre in a tape-recorded interview to be held at the 9:45 a.m. Assembly Class at Princeton Methodist Church, which is the Haddonfield Methodist Church and a trustee of Morristown College in Tennessee. The Rev. Shelby Rooks Jr. of Princeton will address the class on January 22.

Two Hopewell churches, First Presbyterian and Calvary Baptist, will begin a special series of family programs this Sunday evening concluded with such subjects as poverty, automation, affluence and our changing society.

Meeting from 7 to 8:30 p.m. this week in Calvary Baptist, the group will see the film, "Superflies People."

There will be classes with games, crafts and lessons for children from kindergarten through junior age and nursing school for the very young.

The Rev. Robert C. Berringer, First Presbyterian and the Rev. Howard P. Heltz of Calvary Baptist are in charge.

"The Death of Jesus" will be discussed by the Rev. Ian McIntosh, the Princeton Hospital Chaplain at 8 p.m. this Monday, the third of his "Baptism of Christianity" lectures at Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. The public is welcome.

Obituaries

The service was held in Pennington, the Rev. James O. Haddley of Pennington Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Pennington Cemetery. Contributions may be sent to the Elks Crippled Children's Fund.

George Wilson, 77, of 106 Birch Avenue, died January 10 in Princeton Hospital. A native of North Carolina, he had lived here for the past 56 years.

Mr. Wilson was a trustee of the First Baptist Church. He belonged to Aaron Lodge 9, F & M, and the Ophir Council.

Survivors include his wife, Bessie Wilson, four daughters, Mrs. Alice Kennedy, Mrs. Bessie Christian, Mrs. Elizabeth Brisco and Mrs. Mary Smith, all of Princeton; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

JUNE IN JANUARY: Everybody's dream. Well, there's nothing better for the spirits, nothing that makes you feel more that Spring is really on the way than a new house. How about a beautifully built and maintained one story house within site of Lake Carnegie as a morale booster? This one has a lovely big living room with fireplace and handsome bay window, separate dining room, well equipped kitchen, 4 bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths. On a lower floor, opening to a wide, flagstone terrace, there's a wonderful new recreation room, warmly paneled, indirectly lit and cozily carpeted with a view through sliding glass doors to a sweep of manicured lawns. Lots more expansion room on this floor. 2 car garage. $59,500

THEY'VE GOT IT MADE: And after you've chosen all your cabinets, colors and counter tops it'll be a beauty. The design is a Colonial classic from center hall to beam-ceilinged den. There's a suaven living room with fireplace, separate dining room, deluxe kitchen (big breakfast area) laundry and mud room and powder room on the first floor. Upstairs, 4 double bedrooms and two fine baths. Two car attached garage and full cellar. Rapidly nearing completion on a wooded acre in a most desirable Lawrenceville location. $49,800

IF ANTIQUES ARE A GRAND PASSION: And your collection has outgrown its present setting, we know just the spot for you to house it and your family in style. It's not so old house with charm and problems, but a carefully planned reproduction where all the can't-live-without necessities of our modern day have been included by the warm glow of the 18th Century. Authentic in every detail from its mellow exterior of hand-hewn cedar shakes, to the rubbed pine woodwork, wrought iron hardware, small-paneled windows and ruffled wood floors inside. Both living rooms and a book-lined library have fireplaces. There's a formal dining room and room in the country kitchen for soaks. 5 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths. Finished playground below decks. 2 car carriage house. Well located in the Western Section in a walking distance of the Johnson Park School. $69,500

SPIFFY: Seems so descriptive of this light-hearted not-so-little house in Princeton Borough. State-of-the-art open to high-ceilinged living room with fireplace; large glass-walled garden room all the dining room floods the house with sunlight. Super modern kitchen and adjoining family room complete the active part of the house, white off in a quiet way by themselves are 3 bedrooms and two tiled baths. Thoughtfully landscaped grounds. Central air-conditioning. $39,500

YOUNG AND EAGER: For a house of your own? We know it's difficult for the first-time hunter to find what he can afford right in Princeton, so we think this older two story in the Township should be worth your consideration. Living room with fireplace, formal dining room, pine paneled den, workable kitchen. 3 bedrooms and bath on the second floor. Its present young owners have loved it but have accepted a transfer out of town. $19,500

CHACON A SON COUT: If your taste in architecture shares something with the French, see this two year old whitewashed brick located just west of Princeton. Surrounded by two acres of hitch-strewn woods, it is quite Princeton in feeling - tall pine trees, sturdy columns and long bay windows. Inside, a most workable floor plan with loads of room and room. Wide entry hall, living room with fireplace, formal dining room, sun room, study or library, kitchen and laundry, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths plus maid's room and bath, all on the first floor. 2 additional large bedrooms and bath, plus huge storage attic on second. Full cellar, two car garage and central air-conditioning. $72,500

Tired of housework and want an opportunity to use old skills?
Are you clothed in color?
Can you make sketches of clothing or from photographs of clothing? If so, we have a great opening using standard printing processes.

Do you know the type fonts
and printing layout techniques?
Can you show samples of past work?
We have need of a commercial artist for occasional, part-time, projects. Telephone Mr. Garstetter 921-8006 for an interview.

Maybe we're exaggerating a bit...

but we do get a great many calls outside the Princeton area for our TV Repair Service. We must be doing something right! 3 trucks with radio communication are available for fast, efficient customer service.

We're always happy to lend you a set while yours is being repaired, but if all our sets are out on loan, we hope you'll bear with us.

So don't go to the trouble of hiring an elephant, just call 921-8500 before 10 A.M. and get fast SAME-DAY SERVICE.
